As you join us, you don't just become a network member; you become part of something bigger - a transformative movement of hundreds of school districts across the country. A movement that is actively shaping the future of education.

MORT SHERMAN

Sr. Associate Executive Director,
 Leadership Network

msherman@aasa.org

Dr. Sherman began his career as a middle and high school English teacher and served 25 years as a superintendent in urban and suburban districts.

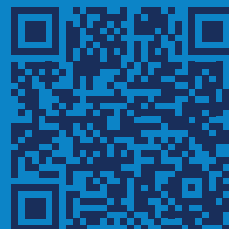

“Our work together is about giving voice to educational leaders who want to be part of shaping the conversation and practice about the future of education for all learners. We wish to create a learning ecosystem where we learn from one another, research the next and best practices, and assure that the successes of our past inform the possibilities of tomorrow. AASA is distinctly positioned to represent leaders across the country, drawing on our vast set of resources, and personalizing and customizing our service to each district. Our relaunch of Learning 2025 reflects our spirit of learning and continuous improvement. Just as our country has its eye on returning to the moon in 2025, a relaunching of the space initiative is a mirror of our Learning 2025 relaunching of extended services, added benefits, and a deepened belief that now is the time, and our district leaders are the ones to coauthor this journey.”
