FROM THE I LOVE
PUBLIC EDUCATION CAMPAIGN,

to the many Children’s Programs that drive systemic change and increase educational equity — the opportunities for meaningful change are endless with AASA.”

AASA IS YOUR ONLY ADVOCATE

for Federal Education Policy

AASA advocacy means your interests are represented on Capitol Hill and in the White House. AASA advocacy prioritizes federal education policies that support equitable access for all students to the highest-quality public education, and develops and supports school system leaders.

RECENT SUCCESSES INCLUDE:

- Year-long #LovePublicEducation campaign.
- Spearheaded week-long series of events on and around Capitol Hill for the first-ever #PublicSchoolsWeek.
- Led the effort to preserve and protect Medicaid spending in schools.
- Chairs the premier coalition that advocates for public schools, pushing back on the Trump administration and its prioritization of privatization of schools.
- AASA advocacy efforts helped stymie an FCC proposal that would limit/cut e-rate funding that is critical for internet connectivity.
- Engaged in a broad coalition to mitigate the negative impact states and schools face in light of the latest tax overhaul.
- Formally partnered with The Rural School & Community Trust to expand the support and services AASA can provide to our nation’s rural superintendents and the schools they serve, in terms of both policy and programming.
- Created an in-depth analysis of tuition tax credits and school voucher tax shelters, and how those provisions undermine public education.
- In 2017, the advocacy team participated in more than 90 member/association meetings in 34 different states.
- PLUS: AASA’s Policy and Advocacy Team maintains a myriad of advocacy-related communications, including the weekly Legislative Corps, the AASA Leading Edge blog, and the quarterly Legislative Trends Report and Policy Insider.

FROM BOOSTING YOUR DISTRICT'S CAREER

and technical learning infrastructure to rethinking the traditional definition of an achievement gap, AASA stands behind public education with the programs and resources we need most.”

MARK HOLODICK

Superintendent of Schools,
Brandywine School District, DE

GRANTS

AASA members can apply for grants of up to several hundred thousand dollars to help districts meet the needs of the local student population.

Example: With generous funding from the Walmart Foundation, AASA established a re-grant program for members only that identifies school districts across the country as incubators for effective school breakfast programs. Re-grants to AASA members range from $100,000 to $400,000.

LEGAL SUPPORT

Valuable coverage increases begin 7/1/18

You'll have peace of mind knowing that if your school district doesn't have sufficient coverage or refuses to defend you, your backup plan is in place. Your association's affiliation with the Trust for Insuring Educators (TIE) makes this valuable member benefit possible.

CONFERENCES, WORKSHOPS AND LEADERSHIP TRAINING

From the flagship National Conference on Education to high-level, content-focused meetings, AASA delivers the best professional learning to meet the expectation of universal success for all children.

MY.AASA

Take control of your membership with My.AASA.org

Just like you, your AASA membership is unique. Personalize your online profile on My.AASA.org and stay more connected with members and colleagues, and with the opportunities offered through your membership benefits.

ENGAGE WITH OTHER MEMBERS

Across the Nation

Collaboration with other superintendents is a priority for AASA members: leading the discussion about effective public education in America, advocating for the needs of superintendents and administrators, and sharing best practices among school districts across the country. AASA gives you direct access to build these valuable relationships through a variety of groups, formats and venues.

HAVING SERVED IN BOTH RURAL AND SUBURBAN DISTRICTS, I have found that AASA plays a vital role in helping superintendents share best practices and ideas with each other. AASA's various cohorts and consortiums make that truer now more than ever. My district has led with that new knowledge and connections.”
